Degrees accepted are in Early Childhood Education (Educación Infantil) or Primary Education (Educación Primaria). Degrees may be the equivalent of an ordinary level degree (Maestro / Maestra) or the equivalent of an honours level degree (Grado / Grada, Graduado / Graduada, Magisterio). The translation of any of these titles is typically 'degree' or 'bachelors degree'. Translations can vary; this does not have a bearing on the approval of the degree. Known variations in translation include 'University degree', 'Graduate degree', 'Bachelor of Arts' or 'Bachelor of Arts in Teaching'. Title of the University is also given in the original language, as used on the graduating certificate; this may be in the language of the region, or Spanish, or both.

The degree title may include a specialization in a particular subject or teaching mode (in Spanish, con mención .e.g Grado en Educación Infantil con Mención en Lengua Inglesa [Degree in Early Childhood Education with specialization in English language]). These specializations are taken in addition to the main degree pathway. Approval is not affected, and for the purposes of this list, degrees with specializations are considered the same as those without.

Early Years Recognised Qualifications – United Kingdom

Note on UK further education qualifications:

Relevant awards for the Early Years sector are available in the UK from a few different nationally recognised awarding bodies (current and former). These include: CACHE, BTEC / Edexcel, the NCFE, City & Guilds, and the former NNEB. Certificates will sometimes show more than one awarding body, for example, BTEC and Edexcel may be indicated on the same certificate.

There are multiple training providers for these awards. Where, in the previous version of this list, an award from one of these awarding bodies was given for a specific training provider, it will now be given for multiple training providers. Approval for awards will not be limited by the training provider, including training providers outside of the UK. However, if the certificate states that the award is given in association with an awarding body, the holder should check with DCEDIY, as this may not amount to full accreditation.
